

To create something bigger To build something stronger This feeling keeps us going, until that something hunts us down. We live only to get better and better And someday that will cost us our lives. So build your life as long as you can, because there's no fast way to stop this. And it's no longer in our hands. Ajatus tuli luonnollisemmin englanniksi muotoiltuna