

My hands are shaking voice vibrating it just bursting and my eyes rove but I feel so focused I have finally woken With an icy glow as an icy fire that burns within me and germinate within you
The end is so close it is my destiny Let's dance this world to pieces progressively, in sync while it is burning in distress let me convey with laughter Let me burn again